Profit potential upside

If the Underlying closes at or above the Strike Level on the Expiration Date, the investor will benefit without limitation from the upside performance of the Underlying.

Profit potential sideways

If the Underlying closes below the Strike Level on the Expiration Date and no Barrier Event has occurred, the investor will receive the Minimum redemption level (equal to the Strike Level). Consequently, an outperformance in comparison with a direct investment in the Underlying can be achieved if the Underlying closes below the Strike Level on the Expiration Date and no Barrier Event has occurred.

Loss potential

There is no protection against falling prices of the Underlying if a Barrier Event occurs. You will be fully exposed to the negative performance of the Underlying on the Expiration Date. In a worst case scenario, the Product becomes worthless and you will lose all of the invested capital.
